Pumpkin persistence

Pumpkins and the seasonal goblins and hauntings that go with them are subjects on most every young mind these days, but little Jeff Horrigan (above) of Canton Township was less concerned with carving the orange fruits into jack-o'-lanterns recently as he tried to tackle one of the biggest specimens himself. The 4-year-old was just one of the many area residents to hit the pumpkin patches this week as the pumpkin pickin' season swings into full force. See story, page D-5. ANP photo by Lothar E. Three little pigs

Police chase home the bacon

Local officials described it as a "jail break" when three local pigs escaped from their pen on Northline Road near Harrison in Romulus last Tuesday.

The three officers in the ordinance department, an animal control officer and an employee from the Department of Public Works worked for two hours to corral the 300-400 pound animals and walk them back home.

Traffic was blocked on Northline Road the entire time, said Steve Banko, ordinance director about the unusual incident.

While witnesses saw the event as amusing, Banko said the whole thing was "anything but funny."

"Everybody thought it was funny. But how would you like to get kicked by a 400 pound sow? After we chased them, all three ended up in some poor lady's backyard. They really made a mess of it. We dragged the first one back to its home and the others were corralled and walked back. Finally, it was under control," said an exasperated Banko after the incident.

The owners who were not at home will be ticketed for having "pigs at large," said Banko who was uncertain if pigs were allowed in the city.

"There's never a dull moment in this job. It was a long afternoon but loads of fun," said Banko.

Jury deciding youth's fate

Twelve men and women hold the fate of a young man and his family in their hands as they deliberate the evidence presented in the murder trial of Darryl Johnson, 17, of Inkster.

"We expect the jury to reach a verdict any minute now," said Sgt. Daniel Snyder of the Romulus Police Department. Johnson is accused of stabbing Robert O'Day, 17, a Romulus student, to death on Jan. 31 of this year in the halls of Romulus High School.

The eight-day trial in Wayne County Circuit Court finished Monday with closing arguments from both the defense and the prosecution. The jury had deliberated for just over an hour when members requested a further explanation from Judge Maureen Reilly about the differences between manslaughter and murder in the first and second degrees.

The maximum sentence for first degree murder is mandatory life in prison with no chance for parole. Second degree murder carries any sentence from probation to life in prison. The penalty for manslaughter is probation to no

Future of city discussed

Movers and shakers from Romulus, Wayne County and the State of Michigan gathered in the basement of city hall last Friday and discussed future development at the intersection of Merriman and Wick roads.

"They called the area the 'jewel of Wayne County, a diamond in the rough,'" said Mayor Beverly McAnally about the boom area north of the airport.

She referred to a "stellar" list of distinguished guests including: Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara; St. Sen. William Faust; St. Rep. Jim Kosteva; County Commissioner Milt Mack; developer Don Marantette; Robert Braun, airport director; representatives from the offices of Governor Blanchard, Congressman William Ford, Northwest Airlines, the Department of Commerce, the Wayne County Department of Public Works and from three state educational facilities: University of Michigan, Eastern Michigan University and Michigan State University.

Development along Merriman and Wick roadshad been individually discussed with these parties in the past. On Friday, for the first time, they assembled and expressed their thoughts and opinions about these developments, McAnally noted.

"This is one aspect Romulus has which no other community in Wayne County can claim. It's a unique situation. Within minutes of your arrival at Metro Airport, you can be sitting at a business meeting or listening to an educational presentation. This the major focal point of new development in Romulus," McAnally explained.

"This area will serve a national and international market and that is how it will be developed," she added.

Lewkowicz joins lawsuit

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

John Lewkowicz, treasurer of the city of Romulus, may feel a little like the lone ranger lately.

Lewkowicz is the lone individual represented by attorney Harry Ellman in a lawsuit against Wayne County Drain Commissioner Charles Youngblood. Lewkowicz has been joined by 11 area communities in the suit which seeks reimbursement for overpayment to the drain commissioner's office.

In early July of this year, members of city council voted to postpone a decision that Romulus join the six communities then committed to the legal action. No action has been taken by members of the council since, according to Lewkowicz. Council members reportedly felt the lawsuit was premature. Questions were raised about the effects of the upcoming election when voters in Wayne County will decide the fate of the drain commissioner and his office.

Ellman expects to file a class action lawsuit in Wayne County Circuit Court this Friday.

"The situation with Romulus has a unique twist," he said. "In the previous lawsuit settled three years ago, Lewkowicz represented the citizens of Romulus in his official capacity as treasurer. He will now represent them as a private citizen. I feel the city council was wrong not to join the lawsuit but this way, Romulus citizens will be represented," Ellman added.

In 1976, six communities joined in the lawsuit Lewkowicz vs. Youngblood. An out-of-court settlement awarded $650,000 to these communities. Romulus received $146,899. In the present court action, the city of Romulus could receive $80,000.

"Residents in the City of Romulus have been illegally charged for improper drain assessments. I felt it was my responsibility as a citizen and the city treasurer, to get this money back. I expect we will win," said a confident Lewkowicz.

He emphasized that he wants to stop the illegal spending of citizens' money. He stated that communities that did not join the lawsuit in 1976, received no money from the final settlement.

Lewkowicz has served as

to a position on the water-sewer board for four years and was elected a councilman in Romulus for one term.

"We go through these illegal drain assessments year after year. Youngblood collects all the funds but no drains are being cleaned out. I understand he uses the money for administrative costs. This lawsuit does not obligate the city of Romulus in any way. I have joined with these communities to protect my rights as a private citizen and those of other Romulus residents," he said.

Celebrating excellence

There was great cause for celebration at Associated Newspapers last week as Publisher David Willett announced that the publication was the recipient of the Excellence in Journalism award from the University Press Club of Michigan. Illinois judges found the six Associated Newspapers so superior, and so equal in excellence, that for the first time in the 20-year history of the association, the award went to the group. The award was based on content, layout, photos, graphics and editorial excellence. This award followed the announcement last month by the Michigan Press Association naming Associated as the winner of both the editorial writing and editorial page first-place honors in the state and citing the centennial edition and 'Flying Solo', the column written by Willett, with state wide honors. "Every employee here contributed to our selection as the best community newspaper in the state," Willett told the employees. "I'm proud of each of you and you have good reason to be proud of yourselves and of the product you produce."

Downtown competes with new city center

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

For the past 100 years, Goddard Road has served the Romulus community and provided for its most basic commercial needs. Today, groceries, hardware, appliances, prescriptions, liquor and many other items can still be purchased along this strip which has become known as "beautiful downtown Romulus."

"It is my intention to preserve the semi-rural character which is unique to downtown," said Mayor Beverly McAnally.

But there is a new focal point in the city, according to officials including Richard Viskochil, director of economic and community development.

Richard Viskochil

"I wouldn't say we have a new downtown or replaced the old one on Goddard Road, but the city of Romulus definitely has a new focal point," said

Viskochil about the new development and building boom in the area along Merriman and south of Wick roads.

McAnally agrees. "The character of downtown won't change. We don't want it to. It will still be a small town, folksy atmosphere. I don't see a big change and we will continue to improve and attract new business in that area. The emphasis of development in the city will be the area of Wick and Merriman roads," she said.

"This area will be more of a regional center, something you associate with development around an international airport," Viskochil said and added that development would resemble that which surrounds other large and modern American airports like O'Hare Airport in Chicago or Atlanta International.

Dozens of major and minor projects, in various stages of introduction and completion, have been announced for the area.

Major highway improvements along I-94 have been approved by the Federal Highway Commission. They include the rebuilding of the Merriman Road and I-94 interchange; improvements at Middlebelt Road and I-94; and an overpass across I-94 at Vining Road, "to connect the airport with the undeveloped land to the north," noted Viskochil.

"The environmental impact studies are almost complete. Soon the engineering and actual design of the interchange should begin. I expect construction by the end of next year. When we start depends on the government financing. Ninety percent is financed by the Federal government," he said.

Several proposed hotels, in addition to those already open and those under construction, have been approved by the Romulus Planning Commission including: Hawthorne Suite Hotel, 126 rooms; Metroplex Lodge, 140 rooms; Metroplex Lodge, 140 rooms; and Courtyard Inn, 146 rooms.

“These developments go hand in hand with the space surrounding an international airport.”

Hampton Inn, 134 rooms and Bob Evans Restaurant received site plan approval from the commission last month. These two projects and the Courtyard Inn will be constructed along the north side of the off-ramp at I-94, east of Merriman Road and south of Airlines Parking.

According to Viskochil, the land is presently owned by Wendall Flynn the owner of Airlines Parking and it was Flynn who initiated this development. Viskochil noted that Flynn feels confident enough about this area to underwrite the infrastructure in this area. Flynn's business, Airlines Parking, will mark 20 years in operation this year.

"This area is a TIFA development and taxes generated from these new developments would be spent to build or upgrade the infrastructure, including roads, sewers or other utilities. The city has initially agreed that Flynn would be reimbursed for his costs on this development through TIFA, when these projects are complete," explained Viskochil.

The size of the property amounts to less than 100 acres, according to Viskochil. A road will divide the 60 acres of Airlines Parking on the north from the 30 approximate acres south of the proposed road. Fifteen acres of this property has been taken by the highway department for new interchange.

Merriman Road will become a boulevard and "much less confusing and dangerous than it is presently," noted Viskochil.

A rest area proposed in the late '60s for the area south of I-94 between Wayne and Vining roads is "on hold." "There has been a lot of development since then and a lot has changed," he added. In May, members of the city council unanimously passed a resolution requesting the State of Michigan not let bids for the construction of the rest stop until the Airport Task Force "has had an opportunity to study the needs of Metro Airport and the adjacent economic development potential."

An investigative study by JJ&R of Ann Arbor about the billion dollar, 800 acre development proposed by Bloomfield Hills developer Don Marentette is near completion according to Viskochil.

This development has been dubbed the "Metro Center." Adjacent to this project, between Wick Road and I-94, is the proposed building of 102,000 square feet of hightech and laboratory research space. "Phase III of this project would include a 200,000 square foot, four-story office building," said Viskochil.

"The proposed educational facility will also stimulate development in the area," he said.

"These developments go hand in hand with the space surrounding an international airport. When developers see the commitment by government in this area, they psychologically feel comfortable. It's a healthy situation," he said.

Love at first sight

Romulus couple married 65 years

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

It was love that brought them together 65 years ago, and it was love that kept them together during their long marriage, and Sam and Ethel Chambers of Romulus will both tell you, it's love that keeps them together today.

"We married because we loved each other, and we still love each other," said 88-year-old Sam who with 82-year-old Ethel, family and friends celebrated this special anniversary at Ball Road Tabernacle Church in Romulus last Sunday.

"We made a commitment to stay married, that's all," he said.

"I like to call him sweetheart," added Ethel.

What appears to be a local love story, is just that. They first met while attending a church service and Sam remarked to a friend, "That's my girl even if she doesn't know it." They dated for 2 1/2 years and married on Oct. 22, 1921, 65 years ago today.

Both Sam and Ethel came from large families and they were born in neighboring counties in Kentucky. Ethel was the oldest and Sam was "fifth down." His father worked in timbering but was often sick. "It was awfully hard on mother," he noted. Ethel was a farmer's daughter.

"We had three children in Kentucky but they were reared in Michigan and still live in Michigan," Sam emphasized. The Chamber children are Ruth Holt of Romulus, Orville Chambers of Westland and Daisy Kyte of Pickney.

least two more times. Eventually, Sam retired from Federal Motor with 25 years in 1954 when the business closed its doors.

"I was lucky. I worked all through the Depression, sometimes just three or four days a week. But no matter what,

“We married because we loved each other, and we still love each other.”

Sam started with the Southern Railroad at the age of 13. "We tamped cross ties by hand, a lot different than today. I worked with the bridge gang and the construction crew. We built train depots. Later, I became a signalman and then a lineman. Naturally, I became pretty handy," he stated matter-of-factly.

In 1928, the family moved to Detroit. "Times were good. I thought we could do better up north. I took a three month leave of absence from the railroad company and got a job with Federal Motor Company in Detroit. The day after that, I was laid-off and had no job, nowhere!" he conceded.

But Federal Motor would call him back and lay him off at Ethel has right at my side. We've worked together hand-in-hand since the day we married," Sam stated as he looked at his wife and smiled.

Here they reared their three children. In his "retirement" years Sam would work with in the landscaping business until 1972. "That's when I completely quit. I've had so many jobs you couldn't afford to print all of 'em," he quipped.

Aside from the long marriage, the Chambers are most proud of their gardening efforts. "One year we grew a banana squash that weighed 52 pounds. This year one onion weighed 2 pounds," noted Sam as he stood in the cellar with walls lined with shelves of canned fruits and vegetables of every imaginable kind, from apples to pickles to sauerkraut.

Beside a lush vegetable garden, the Chamber acre boasts a three-tiered fountain surrounded by a great variety of fruit and shade trees. Evidence of the former landscaper's work are everywhere.

The family attributes their success and longevity to two things: a cooperative city and Christian beliefs.

"Romulus really helped us when we needed it. The old-time bankers helped us when we began to build our house and we'll never forget it. It was greatly appreciated.

"The Lord has blessed us with good health and strength. Ethel pulled through a serious brain tumor operation over 30 years ago," Sam explained.

Although both are very busy with their home and family, they believe their church comes first and donate at least 10 percent of their small income. Sam helped build the Ball Road Tabernacle Church and has served as a trustee on the board of directors for 44 years.

"Ethel waits on me each day like I was a baby and I do what I can for her," he concluded.

the home stretch

Highlights from 1986 Romulus Homecoming included the illuminated Magic Kingdom on the senior float, pictured above. The Wonderful World of Disney was selected as the theme this year. While the junior class exhibited Dumbo and the sophomore class, Pinocchio, the freshmen with their interpretation of "Herbie," an animated car, won first place because the car trounced up and down on an opponent.

Homecoming kings and queens included for 1986, Mark Dubyak and Lorraine Zurawski; for 1985, Robert Webb and Dawn Hammons; and for 1984, Corzell White and Sandy Barr.

Employee charged with theft

An employee who allegedly embezzled at least eight cars from a Romulus car rental agency has been bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court on two counts, embezzlement and credit card fraud.

As the result of an ongoing investigation, a warrant was obtained on Sept. 25 and on Oct. 3, Kimberly Diahann Moore, 26, of River Rouge was arrested and arraigned in 34th District Court, according to Romulus Police Lieutenant Ken Kraus.

At the preliminary exam conducted last Wednesday, Moore was bound over to circuit court and will be arraigned on Oct. 29.

"This young lady who worked with a car rental agency in Romulus, got ahold of some credit cards that didn't belong to her. Allegedly, she and her friends fraudulently used the vehicles. She was nice to her friends and gave them good cars," reported Kraus.

The scam was uncovered when the owner of one of the credit cards called the rental agency and asked, "What's going on?" Kraus noted.

"Police thoroughly investigated and interviewed a lot of people to put the whole thing together. This is a good example of white-collar crime," he said.

news in brief

AN ARMED ROBBERY occurred about 9 p.m. last Tuesday at a pizza restaurant on Wayne Road in Romulus. Two men apparently entered the restaurant and inquired about the price of a pizza. When the employee gathered the information, one of the men jumped over the counter and announced the holdup, according to Lieutenant Ken Kraus of the Romulus Police department. "They produced a handgun and obtained the cash from the register. No shots were fired and no one was injured. Both suspects exited the store and ran eastward. No vehicle was seen but it is suspected to have been parked on a street behind the restaurant," Kraus explained. An investigation is still pending.

TION will be conducted at noon this Saturday at the Department of Public Works Building, on Goddard east of Wayne Road. At this time, all surplus, unusable and confiscated properties will go for sale on the auction block.

LETTERS OF RECOMMENDATION ARE HARD TO WRITE WHEN YOU CARE A LOT

Dear Letter Writer:

A very dear friend of mine is trying to change careers. She asked me to write a letter of recommendation, and I want it to be extra-special so that it will work for her. I am so close to her that I am having a tough time getting my message across. Would you please help me.

Sincerely, DB

To Whom It May Concern:

It is my pleasure to be given an opportunity to write a letter on behalf of SN. I have known S for more than seven years, both on a personal and professional level. She is, in short, an outstanding individual who consistently exhibits honesty, integrity and trustworthiness.

On a professional level, she approaches her tasks and assignments with a great deal of intensity. It is important to S that she complete a project in a timely and comprehensive fashion. Her follow-through skills as well as her problem-solving abilities are unsurpassed.

On a personal level, S is innately intelligent, attractive, well-met and possesses an outgoing and loving personality. She speaks highly of others and is seldom found in anything other than a positive mood with a positive attitude. S is always smiling and is very concerned about her fellow human beings. She is, indeed, a true friend.

An extremely determined individual, S is always looking for challenges and seeking new experiences. Without any thought, I would readily recommend her to anyone for any position of responsibility or trust. If S does not know how to do something, she researches the job, finds the answer and solves the problem.

I have nothing but the best to say about S and would age any potential employer to consider using her talents in their organization.

If I may provide you with any additional information or answer any questions you may have, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely, DB

RESOLUTION: DB was pleased as this letter expressed her feelings. SN was likewise pleased as the letter, together with her resume makes a fine package as she embarks on her career search.

Down the drain

In Wayne County there are approximately 600 drainage ditches which extend nearly 1,000 miles. Only 120 drains, representing approximately 300 miles of drainage are under the jurisdiction of the Wayne County Drainage Board. The drainage board includes the Wayne County Drain Commissioner and two county commissioners. However, more than 400 drains representing almost 700 miles of drainage are under the exclusive jurisdiction of the drain commissioner who makes all decisions both executive and legislative. In those drain districts, there is no system of checks and balances.

The drain commissioner alone decides what work will be performed on a drain, what contractor will perform the work, what engineer will perform engineering services, as well as the size and cost of any drain clean-out project. He alone determines what the total cost will be to the individual taxpayers who live in the drainage district. The drain commissioner makes these decisions without so much as a moments review by anyone outside his office. If the overwhelming majority of citizens who live along a drain district object to the project at any stage of the proceeding, they are powerless to prevent the project from being undertaken and are powerless to control the amount of money that will be spent as well as how much they will be taxed.

The complete absence of any system of checks and balances has resulted in extremely high spending on drain projects which are charged directly to the individual taxpayers. Consequently most citizens in western and southern Wayne County are extremely reluctant to sign any petition which would enable the drain commissioner to work on their ditches. In Sumpter Township, a community with an extremely low per-capita level of income, economic development is stymied by the poor road system. The road system cannot be repaired because of inadequate drainage. The citizens of Sumpter Township cannot afford to clean out their drains at the cost charged by the drain commissioner.

A classic example of the dangers inherent because of the absence of any checks and balances is found in the amount spent cleaning the Cole, Martin, Townline and Vandicar drains. The average cost per mile to clean those four drains was nearly $100,000.

The Vandicar drain is located in southern Huron Township. A total of 1.2 miles of that drain was cleaned by Huron Township using federal block grant money. The total cost for cleaning the 1.2 miles was slightly less than $46,000. Total outside engineering fees which were included in that cost were slightly less than $2,500. By comparison, the drain commissioner has charged over $232,000 to date to clean the next 1.7 miles of the same drain and has expended over $54,000 in engineering expenses and is still not done. These costs must be paid by the individual taxpayers in the drainage district. Some taxpayers who are on a fixed income face assessments in excess of $10,000.

On the Vandicar drain a driveway culvert was replaced at a cost of $11,000. The contract and invoices were reviewed by the Engineering Division of the Office of Public Services and they have found that the value of the work was approximately $2,400.

Countless examples of exorbitant payouts for drain work are proof enough of the need for legislative review. At the same time, the lack of scrutiny — the built-in unaccountability of the present system — has created a widespread blatant breakdown of proper procedures. Without checks and balances, the system has fostered illegal assessments, the failure to secure estimates and bids according to state law, the neglect to hold public hearings, and excessive charges for work.

Elimination of the Office of Drain Commissioner will not only save tax dollars through more efficient effective work and eliminate excessive and unfair assessments, but, will provide an important final step toward completing county reform.

Tink, tunk

Now, I remember hearing it. It was barely audible over the din of the Washington airport, but now I remember hearing it. Why didn't I listen at the time?

Perhaps I should back up for a moment and explain. For some time now, I have had a problem with what I guess is called "down time." We've all got it, time that could be used for more than one purpose, but often isn't.

For example, unless I am on psychological overload, which is often the situation, I much prefer to read newspapers or do paperwork while watching television. And, driving any distance in the car is a great time waster for me, so most of my drive time involves not only piloting the vehicle but, thanks to the miracles of modern technology, talking on the phone and returning calls, or listening to educational tapes.

On airplanes, on buses, in taxis or in restaurants alone while I'm traveling, I read and ride, or listen to tapes. Awhile back, I purchased an AM/FM Walkman with a built in cassette recorder-player. In it is a small, plug-in microphone--so small that it is easy to carry or install.

It also comes out easily. Many times I have caught the mini-mike on the edge of something, or it has pulled out and fallen. Normally, I am mentally tuned in enough to be conscious of it, and quickly pick it up and reinstall the mike in the proper place.

It seems, however, in the airport, I was trying to do four things at the same time (walk, chew gum and two more) and the tink-tunk sound the mike made when it fell caused me to pause and look down, but I didn't, for some reason, connect it to the lost microphone syndrome.

I should have.

Too late, and many miles away, I discovered my loss.

All this brings to mind a few other idiosyncracies that have become a part of my behavior. Sometimes you do things and it feels right, but you're not quite sure why you do what you do the way you do it. (Are you still with me here?)

Many, if not all of you, share my feelings about lost articles. I have lost so many gold Cross pens that it is an obsession with me. My record for finding my lost gold Cross pens is three in one day.

"Why don't you switch to inexpensive plastic pens?" The answer to that oft-asked question is simple...I don't want to.

Lost keys are equally distressing. I always carry two sets, at least of car keys and others used during the day most frequently. In what would seem like an unrelated habit, I also carry at least two of every essential when traveling.

The other day I was talking to John Rogin about the alarm system he had installed in his car. He said it's more than the loss of the car and the hassle with the insurance company. It's the inconvenience and lost time that is required to replace the car or repair it, whatever the cost may be.

And so it finally dawned on me, the reason I do some of the things I do the way I do them, I mean.

In the fast world we live in, where we have but two basic commodities to work with, our time and our money (and precious little of either, if you ask me, but that's another column) I find the useless loss of time one of my greatest frustrations.

Those who cannot anticipate an approaching need become the most exasperating for me to deal with. People who fail to recognize the need for a backup system when possible or take extra safety measures to guard against a needless loss, drive me to distraction. Efficiency insurance you might call it. That's why I have an extra Cross pen, refills on nearly all toiletries and sundries on hand, a spare set of keys and 14 extension

Women's conference praised

To the Editor:

Please allow me to offer my public congratulations to Annapolis Hospital of Wayne for providing the women of Western Wayne County with a Women's Health Conference ("Turning Points," last Saturday at John Glenn High School) that surpassed in quality any of the many health conferences I have attended in recent years.

From registration to the end of the day (which no one wanted to see happen), the offerings were simply top notch, exceptional speakers, very sensitive to women's struggles and concerns, a lovely atmosphere catering to the female in us, delicious and healthful luncheon with a lovely string quartet in the background, excellent scheduling, allowing us to meet others and enjoy the many offerings of a terrific resource center, plentiful (and attractive) signs and directions, warm, friendly and professional staff. In short, an undisputed duccess and a more than worthwhile investment of my precious time (at an incredibly low price of only $15).

Annapolis Hospital, through "Turning Points" you have made a statement about your commitment to the physical, emotional, spiritual, psychological and social health of women. I look forward to your next conference and will be sure to bring my daughters and friends. It is wonderful to see such sensitivity to women's needs coming from a local community hospital.

Thank you Annapolis, for a very special day of learning and inspiration.

Police get thanks, praise

To the Editor:

I want to personally extend my thanks to the Romulus Police Department, especially Detectives Early and Snyder, officer Ellis and all the support they received from the department in the doorstep robber investigation.

When crime touches you personally, you then realize the work of the police department which often times goes unrecognized or unrewarded. Again my thanks and my mother's to the Romulus police for their help at a most trying time.

Resident rebutes allegations

To The Editor:

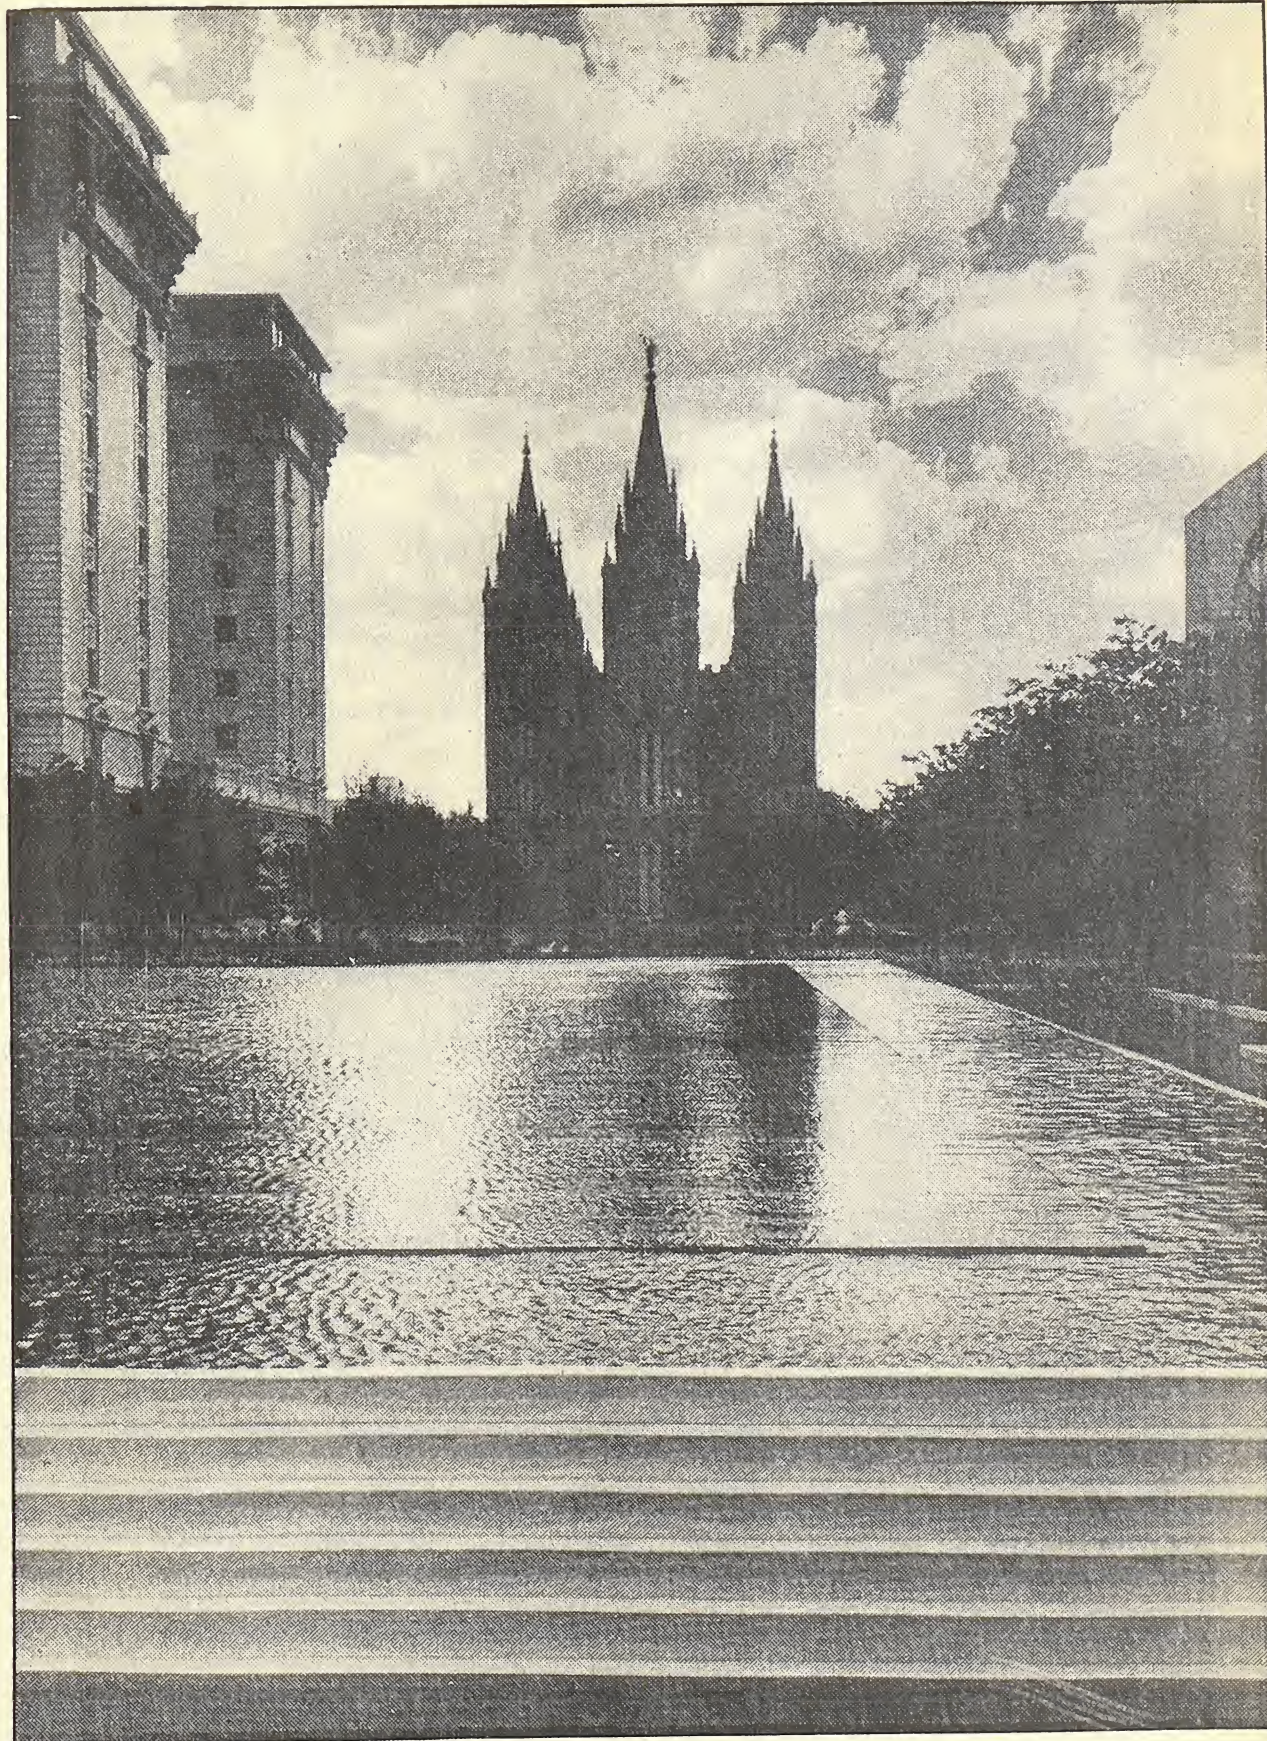

I am writing in response to Tom Kato, operator of the Belleville Food Center, who blamed the closing of his establishment on the lack of support from the community.

I was one of the first customers in your market on opening day, and frequented your market on several occasions afterward. However, each time I found much of your produce to be past the point of freshness, and on more than one occasion I had to return dairy products for the same reason. The lack of a complete line of groceries forced me to make a second stop at the old local A & P. to complete my grocery list (which was not extensive).

After several bad experiences I returned to A & P to do all of my shopping. Mr. Kato, don't be too quick to place the blame on the shoppers of this community. We appreciate the opportunity to have choices where we shop, and miss downtown shopping, but, we expect and deserve a clean environment in which to shop, an ample supply of fresh produce, meat, and dairy products at competitive prices. That's a tall order for an independent grocer to accomplish, but necessary if he expects to succeed.

“Stress”

The pressure pain can be treated

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

God, grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change.
The ability to change the things I can
And the wisdom to know the difference.

That motto has become a way of life for Nancy Thompson-Britton and also the very basis of each lecture the registered nurse gives to her classes when discussing tension, stress and human depression.

Thompson-Britton, who works in the in-service/community relations department at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, underwent a bout with stress overload and personal depression a few years ago. After intensive research and study into that field of human psychology which deals with injured human emotions and nervous systems, Thompson-Britton was able to recognize her problem, undergo an emotional healing process and recover from one of the most common ailments to afflict the human being.

Today, the health care worker is using her knowledge to help others through lectures, counseling and classes. Currently, she and her colleagues at Annapolis are heading a 12-week program on stress geared toward the senior citizen audience at the senior citizens' center in Westland.

"I would say 85 percent of all of our calls for a speaker are for stress and depression. I've have had a personal experience with depression, and it's this experience that motivated me to learn more about it," explained Thompson-Britton.

TENSION

So, just what is this stress and tension villain which wreaks havoc in the human body? According to Thompson-Britton, tension and depression are positive forces that the body needs to survive.

"Actually, it's a normal, predictable healing process in response to significant emotional stress," Thompson-Britton said. "Given an act of stress in a certain amount of time, it is normal to have a certain amount of depression."

Tension and stress can afflict the body for three main reasons, Thompson-Britton said. Any change in the biophysical, psychosocial or chemical framework of the body is a stress creator. Added together during a significant amount of time, those factors lead to stress overload and depression, she continued.

Biophysical changes to the body are changes that occur to the body itself, Thompson-Britton explained. Adolescence, menopause, loss of sexual drive or ability, pregnancy, loss of hair or teeth, loss of beauty or loss of youth all prove to be "stressors" due to the fact that all represent a change from the traditional, usual way of life.

"Any time you have a change in your environment, you have stress. The body is constantly seeking a balance and harmony. It's an automatic thing," Thompson-Britton said. "As you are creating this balance when a change has occurred, you are putting out energy, energy you are using to adapt.

STRESS

"But your energy is limited, like a car battery, and you either have to get away from the stressors or you get exhausted. That's when you have 'stress overload'."

Psychosocial stressors are those that emotionally scar humans, Thompson-Britton explained. The death of a loved one, divorce or separation are the biggest stressors in this group, but some not-so-obvious stressors can be even more serious when added with all of the other stress factors, the health care worker said.

Loss or change of job, loss of financial security, marriage, moving, retirement, children leaving home, trouble at work, change of job duties, passover for promotion, January, June, September, injury to reputation, loss of self-esteem, awaiting job transfer, evaluation, loss of pet, exams and awaiting medical test results are all serious stress factors that when grouped together can be the catalyst needed to trigger stress overload, she said.

"It's the little things that many times contribute to depression. A lot of us experience stress overload because we let the little things build up," Thompson-Britton explained.

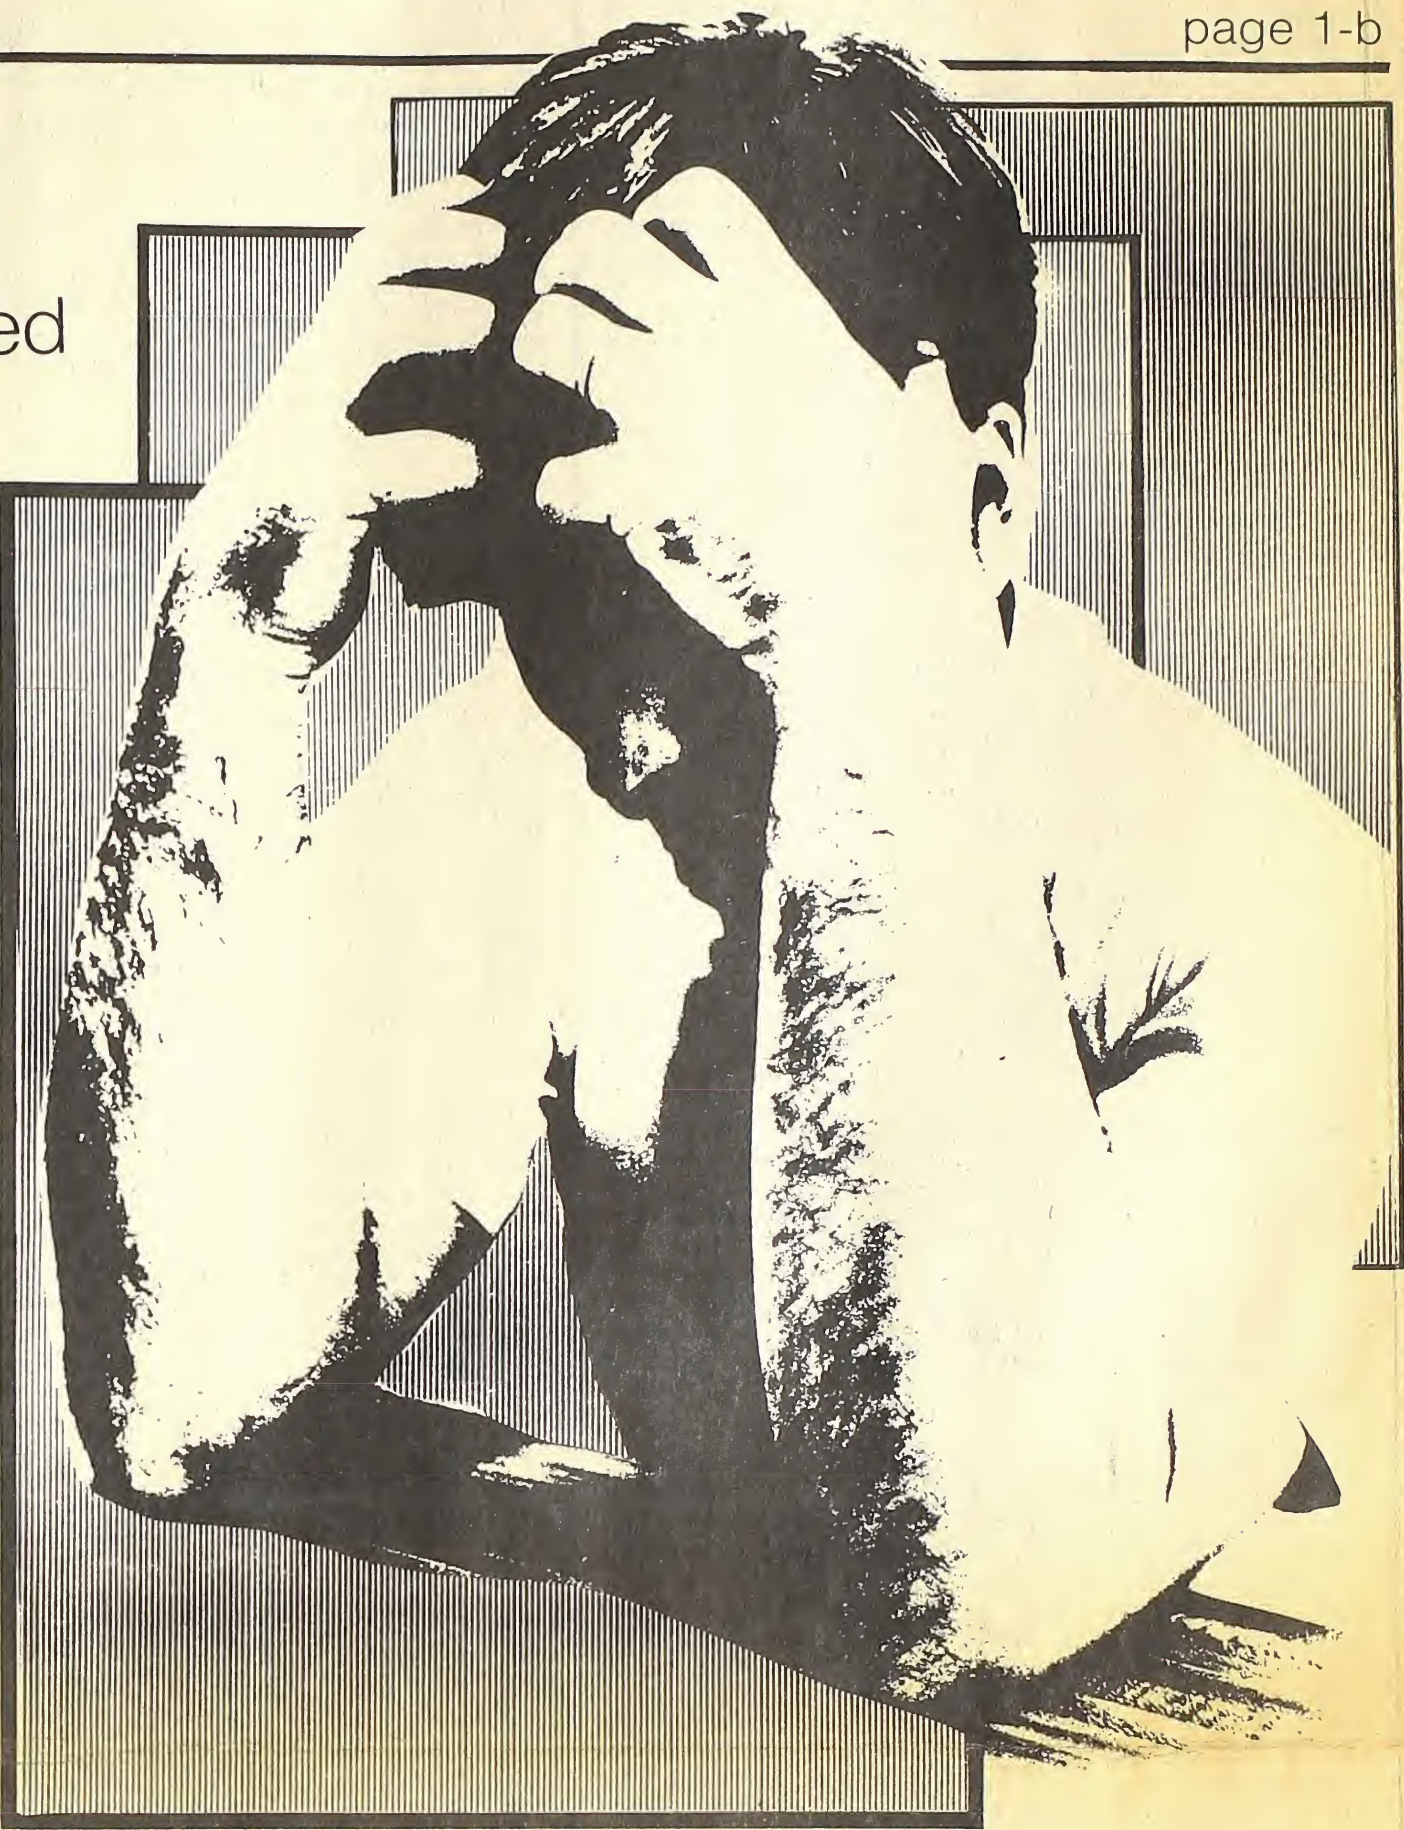

What are the signs of stress overload? According to Thompson-Britton, some of the signs are obvious, while most are hidden.

Some subtle indications of stress overload are: irritability, more frequent smoking or drinking, eating faster, frequent sighing or yawning, playing with pocket change, stroking mustache, playing with hair, talking faster, changing tone of voice, clearing throat frequently, blinking or teary eyes, picking at fingernails, forgetting things, making careless mistakes and appearing more worried.

Intermediate stress overload signals include: loss of interest in sex, procrastination, difficulty making decisions, avoiding meeting people, communication problems, going over and over certain thoughts, feeling alone when you're not alone, feeling helpless, crying easily, feeling apathetic and feeling that time is passing very slowly.

The more serious stress signals – and the ones that reveal an immediate need for attention – Thompson-Britton said include: disruption in sleep habits, loss of appetite, chronic fatigue, irritability, loss of self esteem, physical complaints with no diagnosable basis such as head, shoulder and lower back pain, feeling guilty, decreased activity, suffering close relationships, resorting to alcohol or drugs and considering suicide.

How is stress overcome? According to Thompson-Britton the first step is recognition of the problem.

"A lot of times we put out a lot of our energy in unnecessary worries which we can't do anything about. You have to separate the stress factors in your life," said Thompson-Britton. "You have to take a look at them and figure out which things you can do something about."

The health care worker likened a stressed and depressed person to a cut. With proper medication and time, all cuts will heal. Likewise, with proper medication – drugs and/or counseling – and time, all emotional cuts will heal. But, she said, the key to this healing process is the time.

Working with stress

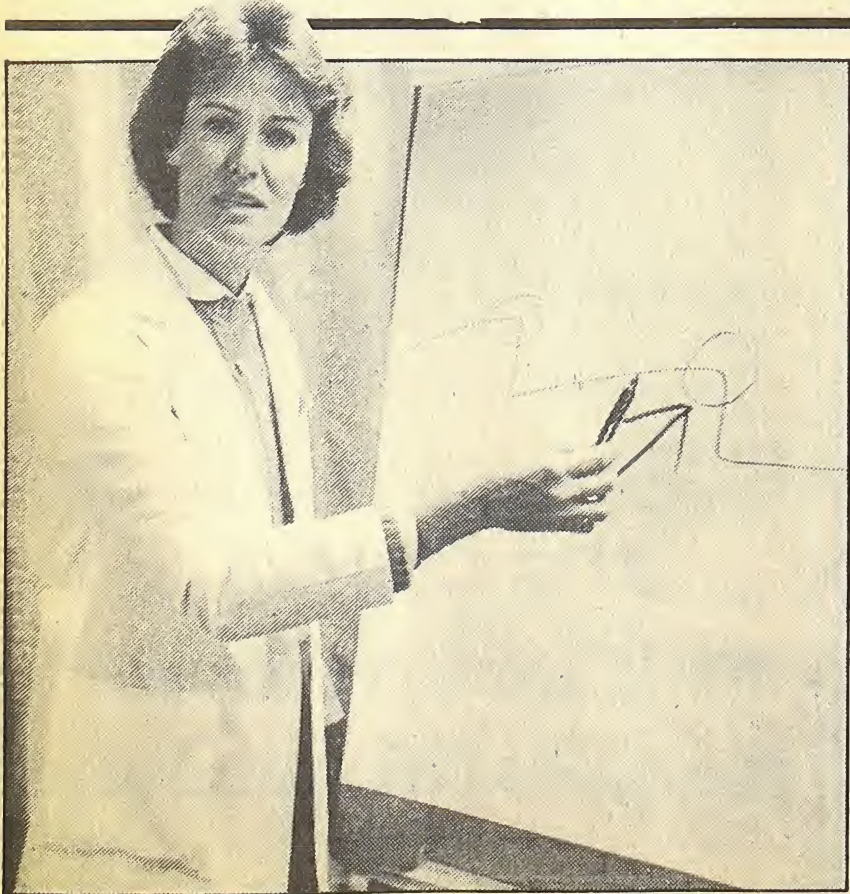

Miners have the most on-the-job stress and police follow close behind, according to a study completed recently by a British university.

The survey of British workers found that librarians have the least amount of daily stress from the job. The report, which has been included by an American professor in his book "A Guide To Careers," rates job-related stress levels from 10 to 0, 10 being the most stressful.

Nevertheless, Nancy Thompson-Britton, a speaker on stress from Annapolis Hospital, said that occupation alone doesn't determine stress levels. The health care worker cited housewives, secretaries, middle-level managers and workers who face constant shift changes as professionals who have the potential of being exposed to a great amount of stress.

However, Thompson-Britton continued, just how much of that potential will become real stress is dependent on just how the everyday worker is able to handle stressful situations.

OCCUPATION	STRESS LEVEL
Miners	8.3
Police	7.7
Prison guards	7.5
Civil aviators	7.5
Construction workers	7.5

Nancy Thompson-Britton

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Nancy Thompson-Britton, a lecturer on stress and depression, offered an individual test for possible stress sufferers to determine just how severe their problem might be.

In the test, patients answer each question on a scale of 1 to 5, 1 being given if the statement almost always applies, and 5 if the statement never applies.

After answering all of the questions, the patient is asked to total the points and determine into which of three vulnerability groups he falls. If extreme vulnerability is revealed, Thompson-Britton said, this person should reevaluate his life patterns and possibly seek methods of reducing his susceptibility to stress overload.

The following test is a sample of this type of test. Although the results should not be regarded as exclusive evidence of stress overload vulnerability, Thompson-Britton said the results could provide some insight into your own way of life.

STRESS VULNERABILITY TEST

DIRECTIONS: Give yourself 5 points for each answer that is never applicable, 1 point for those that are almost always applicable. For those that fit in between, pick a suitable number between 1 and 5.

1. I eat at least one hot balanced meal each day.
2. I get seven to eight hours of sleep at least four nights each week.

3. I give and receive affection regularly.
4. I have at least one relative within 50 miles on whom I can rely.
5. I exercise to the point of perspiration at least twice each week.
6. I smoke less than one-half pack of cigarettes each day.
7. I take fewer than five alcoholic drinks each week.
8. I am the appropriate weight for my height.
9. I have an income adequate to meet my basic expenses.
10. I get strength from my religious beliefs.
11. I regularly attend club or social activities.
12. I have a network of friends and acquaintances.
13. I have one or more friends to confide in about personal matters.
14. I am in good health including eyesight, hearing and teeth.
15. I am able to speak openly about my feelings when I am angry or

- worried.
16. I have regular conversations with the people I live with about domestic problems.
17. I do something fun at least once each week.
18. I drink fewer than three cups of coffee, cola or tea each day.
19. I am able to organize my time effectively.
20. I take a quite time for myself during the day.

Subtract 20 from your total score. See where you fall:

20 and below – Average
30-49 – vulnerable
50-74 – seriously vulnerable
75 or above – extremely vulnerable

This test also applies to the vulnerability rates for all physical and emotional ailments, Thompson-Britton explained, not just for stress.

Unsung hero

Westland volunteer gets 'sweetest' recognition

focus on people

She says she is mostly a devoted wife to her husband and mother to her children, but the Sweetest Day Committee said otherwise.

According to the committee, Sharon Morris of Westland has volunteered her time for the past seven years with the American Cancer Society "Reach to Recovery" and the YMCA's "Encore" programs. She provide invaluable assistance to women who have had mastectomies, helping them cope with and recover from their operations.

This year, she was presented the "Salute Someone Special" award which "recognizes individuals who, in some way, make life better for others through their jobs, as volunteers, or just special friends. Their contributions and accomplishments, however, often go unnoticed."

Sharon stands among seven unsung heroes from the metropolitan Detroit area presented with the award.

"It was such a shock! At first I thought it might be a practical joke," she recalled when she first received the phone call last week. "I had no idea. But when the man said 'American Cancer Society,' I knew it was on the level. I was so excited, I don't remember his name. I haven't heard anything since," she said.

"The Sweetest Day Committee is pleased to acknowledge these individuals and salute them for their unselfish and caring attitude toward others," said Sweetest Day Committee chairman Jack Sanders. "They have touched the lives of people everywhere and have set an example for us all," he added.

Morris was born in Detroit but raised in Kentucky where she met and married her husband, Jim, 34 years ago. They have two daughters and three grandchildren. "I was born at 4 p.m. and at 4 p.m. on my 17th birthday, I got married. I was a child bride," noted 50 year-old Morris. The family has lived in Westland for the past 18 years. Along with her other volunteer duties, she serves on the board of directors at the Inkster YMCA.

ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS: How did you get involved with the American Cancer Society?

MORRIS: I had breast surgery in 1977. The whole breast was removed. Since then, I've been in good health with no recurrence of cancer. The two programs I'm involved with helped me when I really needed support and I wanted to return the favor. That's a time in your life when you really need some understanding.

ANP: When you first discovered you had cancer, how did you feel?

MORRIS: Death and suffering were my first thoughts. After I got over that part, there are several other stages most women go through when they discover they have cancer. Some of the stages are denial, crying, misplaced anger or guilt. Not all women go through all these stages. You think you're going to be deformed or worse. It's like losing a member of the family. American people are so body and breast oriented. So to join these elite groups, I had to have a mastectomy. My family was very supportive and the entire situation has brought my husband and I closer together.

ANP: Could you explain the purpose and differences of the "Reach to Recovery" and "Encore" programs?

MORRIS: The "Reach to Recovery" program works with women who are about to or have had a mastectomy. Visits are made to the patient while they are in the hospital. Our purpose is to give support before and after this devastating surgery. Locally, we visit Annapolis, Oakwood, Garden City, Heritage, Sinai and Westland Medical. This is usually a one-time contact unless a more serious emotional problem is detected.

"Encore" is a support group for women who have had mastectomies. Through discussion and exercise, we work with one another. I conduct this program at the YWCA in Inkster and at the Dearborn Health Forum.

About 80 women are currently in the "Reach to Recovery" program in the local area and about from 10-20 women attend the "Encore" program.

ANP: What are some of your discussions about?

MORRIS: We try to cover topics which concern the women in the group. Whatever they want. We talk about stress or positive thinking. Informally researched the subject of stress as it relates to women with breast cancer. I found that 90 percent of them during at least five years preceding their surgery had had some type of longtime stressful situation such as death, divorce, retirement or relocation.

ANP: At what time in their lives should women be concerned with cancer or self examination?

MORRIS: We recommend that once women attain the age of 30, they practice self examination. Early detection makes a lot of difference. Often I wear two hats like in December at the Inkster Health Fair, will demonstrate "Breast Self Examination." Women should be able to examine themselves and notice any changes. Most of the women in these programs range in age from 32 to 80.

ANP: Do you have any time for yourself and your family?

MORRIS: I do believe it or not. Above all I consider myself a housewife and mother. I enjoy crafting, canning and work in the garden. My husband and I both bowl and he likes to hunt.

ANP: Anything else?

MORRIS: I would like to say this past week I returned from Children's Hospital in Detroit where I met with other concerned people who are interested in starting a support group for parents of children with cancer. It just on the drawing board, but we're real excited about it. Doctors still don't know what causes cancer, but we can provide support for the victims of this traumatic disease.

MOCKO JUMBIE

Mocko Jumbie is the art of dancing on tall stilts. It originated in West Africa in the rich religious and cultural heritage of African life. Literally, Mocko means "to see" and Jumbie refers to "spirits." Mocko Jumbie is the tall character on stilts who is able to see the evil spirits approach an African village and chase them away with his dance.

Mocko Jumbie is alive today in several African countries and one of the few places in the Caribbean -- the U.S. Virgin Islands where over the years the dance has evolved and become part of festivals and Carnivals.

Michigan Avenue plan gets 3-month delay

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Motorists along Michigan Avenue in Wayne and Canton Township won't have to worry about construction work just yet, thanks to a new delay in the widening project for the state roadway.

Wayne Director of Public Services Ralph Magid said Monday that the state Department of Transportation informed the city that the designs and bids in the project would be delayed three months. However, Magid continued, the state DOT has indicated that it will focus on the critical area of the roadway first - the section between the viaduct and John Hix Road - before proceeding in the expansion project to I-275.

According to Magid, the designing of the road, which would have been completed under initial plans, won't be finished until late December. Bids for construction contractors, in turn, will not be received until early spring, causing the actual construction work to be delayed until sometime in April, Magid said.

"They have indicated to us that they are still in the designing stages and will need until the end of the year for that," Magid said of the state DOT. "I would say now that the construction work should begin sometime in April."

Included in the project is the complete reconstruction of the road from I-275 easterly 2.4 miles to the Wayne railroad viaduct near the Wayne bowling alley. Instead of the two lanes currently in place on each side, the new roadway will have four lanes on both the eastbound and westbound sides.

Mack and Beard face off in county pay-raise vote

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Wayne County Commissioners Kay Beard (D-Inkster) and Milton Mack (D-Wayne) went their separate ways last week in a vote that would give county commissioners and elected officials a pay increase from 12 to 65 percent in the next few years.

Beard joined her colleagues last Thursday in a 7-3 vote which will move the proposal to the county Rules, and Ways and Means committees. Mack was one of the three deceters in the vote saying that the pay hikes are "outrageous when the county is on the very verge of running out of money."

The pay hikes were suggested by county Board Chairman Richard Manning (D-Redford Township). Treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz earlier in the week warned that the county would run out of cash Nov. 15.

Supporters of the proposal argue that the elected officials heading many county departments such as the county Clerk, Treasurer, Drain Commissioner and Sheriff earn significantly less than their department deputies and top-level administrators.

Salaries for the elected officials are set by the county Board of Commissioners. Pay rates for the department deputies and administrators are determined by a tiered salary scale that resembles the scales used by the state and federal governments.

In addition, the proposal would raise the salary for county commissioners from the present $26,400 amount to just under $30,000. According to Beard, such salary increases on both levels are long overdue.

"There have been no pay increases in quite a few years. I'm looking at this because the countywide elected officials have not had a raise in a number of years," Beard said. "They are really in a bad position when their deputies make more than they do."

According to the commissioner, the highest paid elected position currently is that of prosecuting attorney with a $54,266 salary. His deputy – the chief assistant – makes $65,500 annually and $65,000 goes to his administrator, Beard said.

Other salary figures include:

- County clerk $45,000, deputy clerk $50,340, administrator $47,050;
- Register of deeds $41,686, deputy $50,340, administrator $49,340;
- Treasurer $41,686, deputy $50,340, administrator $49,340;
- Sheriff $45,866, under-sheriff $50,340, administrator $58,590; and
- Drain commissioner $41,686, deputy $50,340, administrator $49,340.

Mack rejected the need for pay increases on the basis of inconsistency within the hierarchy. According to the commissioner, "Does this mean we should pay them more, or does this mean the deputies are overpaid?"

"Frankly, I can't figure out why anyone would vote for a pay raise for the drain commissioner when the voters will probably eliminate that office at the end of the year," Mack said. "You can't be passing out pay increases when you are asking county employees to take cuts. It would be devastating to the morale.

"This is the worst thing the county has done in over a month."

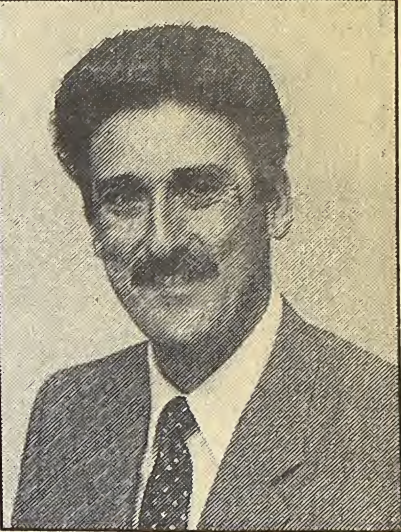

County Executive William Lucas, the Republican candidate for governor who will leave his county post Dec. 31, said he would veto the proposal if it is approved by the commissioners.

However, Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, the Democratic candidate for county executive, said he supports the proposal although "I think the timing stinks."

The county executive's position, which now grosses an annual salary of $72,150, would receive a 12-percent pay hike under the new proposal.

The proposal must now be sent back to the county Board of Commissioners from the Rules, and Ways and Means committees before it is approved. Beard said she expects the county Board vote to occur before the end of the year.

Under the plan, elected county officials would notice their new pay rates Jan. 1, 1987. The pay increases for the county commissioners, however, would not take effect until January of 1989 for the new county Board.

“MACK: "Does this mean we should pay them more, or does this mean the deputies are overpaid? . . . This is the worst thing the county has done in over a month."

dan's dogs

Being a dog trainer and associating with dog lovers has got to be the most rewarding of all careers. The occupation is fun as well as frustrating at times, but more often than not, is a super way to earn a living.

When dog lovers congregate in one room, the topic of conversation is obvious. And, those people who have the same kind of dog as another person in the room end up gravitating toward each other because they have even more in common having picked the same breed.

On occasion, people act as if their dog just "might" be better than the next person's dog. This is not acceptable, totally, but understood and no arguments have ever broken out on account of a little healthy competition and pride. But, should someone not from this group enter and comment negatively about any dog in the class, that becomes a different story. I wouldn't want to be that person for any length of time being glared at by dog lovers.

Dog people are all the same when together. Dog people are considered "different" by outsiders. (An outsider is any person who is not a dog lover.)

We have been to social functions and witnessed heated arguments begin just because a non-dog lover dared to question the purpose of owning a dog in the first place.

dan morris

Dog owners are bonded to other dog owners. It doesn't matter what the breed is or pedigree is or anything else. What matters is that there is mutual understanding between two dog lovers that does not exist when one person can't stand dogs.

We have watched husbands and wives fight each other openly if only one likes the dog. The dog is too personal a part of the household to be disliked by one of the owners. It's really not too different than a couple disagreeing about having children. Because a new puppy requires so much time, patience and energy, both husband and wife must agree that the dog will be a welcomed addition to their family.

Dog owners, cat owners, horse owners, bird owners – even reptile owners – all belong to the same club. Join the club – the rewards are enormous.

HURON SCHOOLS ARE IN CHAOS . . .

You, the community passed a 7.75 millage to improve the Huron Schools of which 6.75 mills were levied. What the Huron schools management has done with your good faith efforts is SHAMELESS!

LET'S LOOK AT THE FACTS

Huron Schools revenues increased over $ 3/4 million.
Yet, school programs have not significantly improved and teachers still don't have a settled contract.

IT'S A SHAME

Instead of the millage solving our problems in the Huron Schools, the management has created CHAOS. So-called "program improvements" are only window dressing. New classes were started without usable materials; some "not so new" classes began the new school year without textbooks; class sizes are UP!

WE'RE ALL IN TROUBLE

What's more, they've dragged their feet at the bargaining table and harassed union advocates. Management has created a hostile work force and an unwholesome atmosphere in the schools.

Beard: County is broke

WAYNE COUNTY — Barring any last-minute land sale or other unforeseen revenue, Wayne County could run out of money by mid-November, according to county Commissioner Kay Beard (D-Inkster) and Treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz.

In an announcement made last week, Wojtowicz said cash reserves amounted to only $21.5 million, the remainder of $24.5 million advanced by the state for mental health purposes. According to the treasurer, those funds won't be enough to meet the up to $5 million weekly payrolls through mid-November.

"I'm very concerned about the information (Wojtowicz) presented to us," said Beard. "I'm hopeful there will be no payless paydays and that we will meet our obligation, but the financial situation is quite bleak at this time."

County Executive and Republican gubernatorial hopeful William Lucas denied any threats of payless paydays last week saying "I assure you that no payless payday will occur. The negative statements are simply election-year rhetoric and lies designed to discredit my administration."

"I assure you, regardless of the wild claims made by campaigning politicians, that paychecks and retirement checks will not be delayed," said Lucas.

WESTLAND — A public forum will be conducted by the Wayne County Citizens Task Force on Health Care Delivery in a drive to convince legislators that certain laws are outmoded, are prohibiting good health care and are forcing the county to pay excessively for treatment, county Commissioner Kay Beard said last week.

The forum will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 23 in the auditorium of the Westland Medical Center at Michigan Avenue and Merriman Road in Westland.

To recover, Thompson-Britton recommends doing the following:

- Recognizing need for recovery, limit changes in life, exercise faithfully, get extra rest, eat carefully;
- Cry often, own your anger, identify fears, complete a stress inventory, keep decision making to a minimum;
- Don't take on new responsibilities, break down big projects into smaller ones, avoid those who bug you or learn to say "no", avoid alcohol;
- Give yourself something to anticipate, visit a funny friend, read a funny book, see a funny movie (humor is healing), visit your comfort zone, do something for someone else, reaffirm your beliefs, remember that the growth process isn't rapid or smooth, spend time with positive people and know when to go for help.

No sex, age group or profession is immune to stress overload, Thompson-Britton continued. Policemen, nurses and secretaries seem to be the most vulnerable, but any job where frequent shift changes occur, tasks are routine and pressure is high is apt to lead to stress overload.

"It's not necessarily the management positions that are the most stressful, either. Usually, it's the middle-managers and clerks that bear the most stress," said Thompson-Britton. "As we rise in any organization, we tend to put added stress upon ourselves by poor time management, too high of expectations for ourselves and others and taking on too much."

"One way that I have found myself able to use stress management is on the way to work. I find myself racing down the road and weaving in between the other drivers. You have to lift your foot off the pedal, take a few deep breaths and really go with the flow."

And although very common — especially for teenagers and adolescents — and very traumatic for some people, stress isn't the end of the world, the health care worker continued.

"Stress and depression are treatable. They are probably the most treatable of all of the emotional problems," said Thompson-Britton. "But, it has to first be discovered. There is no reason why someone with stress cannot be helped."

cords. I'd rather have them on hand than waste the time having to go get replacements when needed.

I am now contemplating how much wasted time lies ahead trying to find a replacement mini-mike.

Perhaps life for everyone would be a little easier if we would all leave ourselves a little more slack in the rope so-to-speak. Methinks perhaps that if we could all get a little better at improving our efficiency, Lord knows I have room for improvement . . . then our existence would seem less pressured. Who knows, if we provide ourselves with a spare this, extra that, a backup plan in case our primary plan doesn't work, it's just possible that we might make our days a little easier.

If we got in the habit of leaving for an appointment or work 15 minutes early instead of 15 minutes late we'd have spare time that could save us from some foolish error or act of omission that could cost us dearly in the end. I guess that's what they mean by haste makes waste.

I know the next time my subconscious says "Hey fella, hold on a minute, I think you dropped something," I will take the time to look twice.

Would you believe this fountain pen I'm scratching this column out with just ran out of ink, and I can't find the package of refills I know I have . . . somewhere? So much for the efficiency theory.

See you next week.

The advertisement features a black and white photograph of two Ford Taurus sedans parked on a street. The car on the left is angled towards the viewer, while the one on the right is seen from a rear three-quarter view. Between them, the word "the" is written in a bold, sans-serif font. Below this, the number "87" is printed in very large, thick, red digits. To the right of the "87", a large red dollar sign "$" is partially visible. The overall composition suggests a headline or a key feature related to the year 1987 and pricing.

Duel of defenses

Svaluto's field goal lifts Glenn over Salem, 3-0

By KEITH A. DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

Maybe it wasn't the moon over Miami, but it was the moon over Plymouth and the Rockets of Westland John Glenn can thank their lucky stars, the leg of kicker Tony Svaluto, and a strong defense for last Friday night's 3-0 victory over a scrappy Salem team.

"We feel fortunate to win a very hard-fought game," said Glenn head coach Chuck Gordon. "Coach (Tom) Moshimer really had his team prepared. We're pleased to get the win."

The victory gave the Westlanders a 6-1 won-lost record, a 4-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. The win also gave them a share of the Lakes Division title with North Farmington and Livonia Stevenson but because of the tie-breaker formula, North will play Farmington Harrison for the WLAA championship and Glenn will meet Livonia Churchill.

The inter-divisional playoff contest between Glenn and Churchill will be staged at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Churchill.

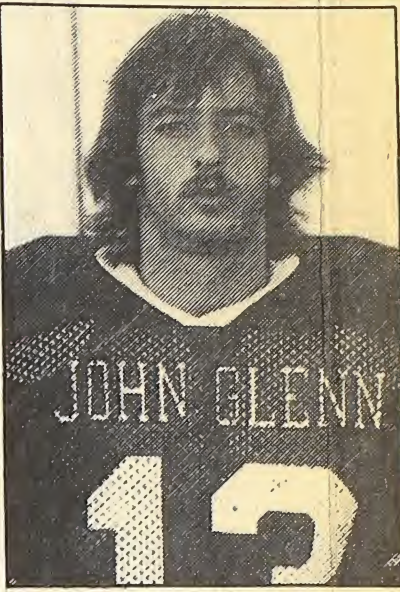

The opening drives by both Glenn and Salem were indicative of how the game would be played, with both trying to establish their ground games. Glenn's first drive was stopped by an interception by Doug Prater, a 5-9, 155-pound junior. Salem's drive started out well as senior quarterback Steve Holt completed a pair of passes to Kevin Cousino and Jerry Sumner that got them within striking distance.

But Glenn's Gary Cloud recovered a Salem fumble and Glenn had dodged a bullet.

That's the way it went for the entire first quarter, at least, as each took turns recovering each other's fumbles until the Rockets' Ed Hyde pounced on a Glenn fumble after a seven-yard dash by fullback Kevin Wilson.

Visions of victory

With a homecoming crowd on hand and a queen upon her throne, Belleville High hosted Wolverine 'A' Conference rival, Lincoln Park, Friday night. The Tigers gave the second-place team an excellent battle before bowing to the Railsplitters, 18-7. First-year Belleville coach Dave McCarney and his Tigers will wrap up the conference phase of the season Saturday at 1 p.m. in Dearborn taking on the league-leading Tractors of Fordson. ANP photos by Guy Warren.

Tiger tankers overwhelm Southgate

Belleville swimmers left little doubt which had the better team when the Tigers clashed and repelled Southgate Anderson 129-41 in a Wolverine 'A' Conference girls' swim meet last week.

With the Tiger mainstay, Karen Kotlarczyk, competing only in the 200-yard medley, Belleville still captured 10 out of the possible 11 first places. Karen teamed with Susan Owsley and Gina Montie for their victory in the relay. They were clocked in 2:13.7. The Tigers also were second in that event with Christy Sikes. Natalie Schroeder, Tracy McCormick and Tracy Gentle.

Jennifer Powell provided the winners with a pair of individual victories as she turned in an impressive 2:22.2 in winning the 200-yard freestyle. Teammates Jennifer Codwell and Samantha Thompson were second and third, respectively. Powell also touched in ahead of the field in the 500-yard freestyle, covering the distance in 6:15. Trailing her to the wire were mates Rachel Snure and Codwell.

Belleville also placed 1-2-3 in the 200-yard individual medley with Tracy Gentle (2:42.8), Owsley (2:48.5), and Christian Howard (2:57.3). In the 500-yard freestyle, Duda and Shawn Strine were the Tigers' 1-2 punch. The winning time was posted at 30.7.

Tiger divers also ruled the boards thanks to Holly Drucker (174.80 points), Cheryl Bird (160.1) and Linda Paarent (128.4).

In the 100-yard butterfly Marcy Korgal and Sikes finished first and second while Melanie Merritt earned a Tiger first for the 100-yard freestyle (1:00.7).

Belleville backstrokers dominated the event with Bambi Gross (1:14.0), Jennifer Owsley (1:14.5) and Korgal (1:21.0), and Howard and Thompson were second and third for the Tigers, the only event they didn't produce the winner.

Codwell, Tracy McCormick, Gently and Montie combined for the victory in the 400-yard freestyle relay (4:25.2) while the Tigers also placed second in that event with Natalie Schroeder, Melanie Merritt, Shawn Strine and Christy Sikes.

Earlier, with Kotlarczyk setting a school record for the 200-yard freestyle, Belleville trimmed a highly-touted Dearborn Edsel Ford club, 96-75. Kotlarczyk was clocked in the winning time of 2:04.63.

The Tigers managed only three other firsts with Karen also accounting for a victory in the 100-yard freestyle ward. Steve Warner plowed in from the 10 to give the Zebras the lead and Doug Quartuccio then converted his first of four point-after.

Wyandotte fought back, however, and launched an impressive counter-offensive. A 37-yard scoring strike from Joe Deichahrer to (See WAYNE, page 2-D)

Wayne whips Wyandotte

After turning in one of their best second half performances of the season at the expense of Wyandotte, Wayne Memorial will meet an improving Monroe for its final Wolverine 'A' Conference contest.

"Monroe got off to a slow start but has improved each week," said Wayne Coach Chuck Howton. "They are coming off of a 7-0 loss to Fordson, but Fordson is in the driving seat of this league. Monroe gave them an excellent game."

Wayne will host the 7:30 p.m. Friday game.

Howton's Zebras turned in their best second half performance of the season en route to a comeback from behind 28-14 victory over Wyandotte.

back Dan Brown and tailback J. P. Fallen.

Scott Janack then blasted the pigskin through the uprights, giving the Tigers a 7-0 lead over the second place conference club.

Fading back to pass is Belleville's Steve Ostrowski who has to contend with a Lincoln Park rush. Ostrowski and the Tigers kept the outcome of this Wolverine 'A' Conference game in doubt until the final quarter when the visitors managed to pull out an 18-7 victory. The loss dipped Belleville's over-all record to 1-6 on the season as they prepare to close out the conference season Saturday at Dearborn Fordson. The story is on Page 1-D. ANP photo by Guy Warren.

Romulus football fortunes turn to misfortunes

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A football season that started in high hopes and expectations is turning into one filled with despair and frustration for Romulus and Coach Norb Glover.

Shutout 27-0 last week by Garden City, Glover's Eagles have won two of seven games this season, a season that the Romulus coach was hoping "to turn the program around in."

"We had high hopes at the bebeen working out the way we planned. We're going to go with the future."

Glover said the problem is compounded "by the lack of numbers. And, next year, we will be competing with some of the members of our new league, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ann Arbor Huron, Adrian, and Ypsilanti."

Glover said that although the Eagles will be playing against future league rivals, they won't officially be in the league until ginning of the season," Glover noted, "but things just haven't some of the younger players the next two weeks to build for.

Glenn

That fumble recovery enabled the Rockets to maintain possession and allow Tony Svaluto to kick a 35-yard field goal, which turned out to be the only points of the evening.

"Tony has been good for us all year," Gordon said. "He's getting better and has been working hard in practice. We're very glad he kicked that field goal for us."

Glenn's defense then took over and started to take Salem's offense out of the game, forcing them to do some things they hadn't planned.

But Salem's defense was equal to the occasion and thwarted Glenn's attack. Shortly before halftime, Salem had Glenn stopped at the 42-yard line and looked to get the ball in good field position.

But Rocket punter Don Sprinkle dashed those thoughts with a 55-yard punt that rolled dead at the Salem three-yard line.

"Our defense played a great game," Gordon said. "The kicking game was super. Anytime you win two of three, you should be able to win the game. Because of the kicking game, we're able to do that."

Glenn got the ball back three plays later on a Salem punt, but Salem's defense held and out came Svaluto to attempt a 57-yard field goal. But the kick fell short and Glenn went into the locker room with a 3-0 lead.

Salem came out and nearly took the lead when Prater took the opening kickoff and returned it 54 yards. For the second week in a row, Svaluto averted a touchdown with a jarring midfield tackle that forced a fumble that was recovered by Gary Cloud.

Glenn got the ball down to the 28-yard line thanks to the running of Wilson and Paul Beasley. Once again, though, Salem's defense held and the Rocks took over.

But Salem couldn't get anywhere, either, when on the fifth play of the series, junior Bill Piepsney entered the game and sacked the quarterback to set up a punting situation.

On the game went, with both teams making one big play to stop the other such as Prater's 25-yard interception return to the Glenn 25-yard line, or Bob Cleaver, getting his first start, stuffing quarterback Chris Hill for a four-yard loss on fourth down.

Cleaver struck again when Salem attempted to punt and forced Sumner to fall on the ball on the 40-yard line.

When Pat Pettit intercepted Hill's desperation pass with 20 seconds remaining, the Glenn fans, players, coaches took a deep breath of relief.

Churchill is next, and Gordon commented on the pending confrontation: "Churchill is a very good defensive team, keyed by such people as running back Jim Naif and two fine quarterbacks in Tracy and Bebb. This should be a heck of a game."

Churchill coach Herb Osterland agreed:

"Checking with our scouts and looking over the films," Osterland said, "they (Glenn) are a very large team. Ham-montree looks like an excellent receiver and Hawley likes to throw to him. Obviously, if we don't stop them we're going to be in trouble."

Glenn's Junior Varsity raised its record to 5-4 on the season as Bryant Satterlee rushed for 281 yards and three touchdowns in a 27-14 victory over Salem. Greg Anderson scored the other Glenn touchdown while Tom Kesler accounted for two point-after.

Jefferson jolts Huron, 54-19

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Late-starting Monroe Jefferson exploded for five touchdowns in the second half to jolt New Boston Huron 54-19 Friday night.

"They (Jefferson) lost their first two games of the season and since then have come back to win five straight," said Huron Coach Tom Labeau. "I believe that they are probably the best team in the league right now."

Labeau and the conference will know if that is true Friday night when Monroe takes on undefeated Riverview for the conference championship.

In the meantime the Chiefs will wrap up their conference season Friday night when they travel to Gibraltar Carlson. Carlson has had its share of problems winning this year.

"But, they (Carlson) have a lot of tough kids on this team and they have size," warned Labeau.

Huron looked good against Jefferson in the first half. In fact, the Chiefs grabbed the lead early when quarterback John Umin put together a sustained drive immediately after the opening kickoff that took them to the Monroe two-yard line.

At the two, Umin went to Lennie Ziegler who bolted past the Jefferson defense and into the end zone for six points.

Then it was up to Jon Tackett who kicked the extra point. With less than six minutes gone into the quarter, Huron was sporting a 7-0 lead.

But it didn't last.

Jefferson came right back with Frank Rodicki's 47-yard touchdown run. For the conversion, Jefferson elected to go for two and Dave Morgan combined with Iggy Bogarko for the go-ahead points.

At half, Huron trailed 24-19 despite a second period TD that saw John Umin team with twin brother, Jim, on a spectacular 52-yard strike.

"Jefferson was more physical and took the game to us in the second half," noted Labeau. "They are a much better ball club."

Rodnicki wound up inflicting most of the offensive damage on the Chiefs as he rushed for 214 yards on 28 carries and three touchdowns.

Magical touch

Directing the action from the sidelines is Westland John Glenn coach Chuck Gordon who has guided his team to a 6-1 record.

Wayne

Rick Carr put the Bears on the board. Then, a two-point conversion by Erik Hanson lifted the home team into the lead, 8-7. Wyandotte hung on to their slim margin until the intermission.

Whatever Howton told his forces at halftime apparently paid off. The Zebras came back in the third quarter and, after the kick-off, Quartuccio engineered a 12 play, 66-yard drive that culminated with Edwards' one-yard dive into the end zone. A 29-yard pass from Quartuccio to Tony Robertson was the biggest gain of the drive.

On Wyandotte's third offensive play of its next series, Lewis Davis recovered a Bears' fumble at midfield.

Darren Tatum went to work. Behind a solid offensive line, Tatum made his overtures for another Wayne TD. Center Scott Badder, guards Jay Muncy and Ron Woods, tackles Larry Holloway and Jason Waugh, along with tight ends Tom Bishop and Doug Florn paved the way for Tatum's 11-yard scoring romp that saw the Zebras lead grow to 21-8.

The Bears bounced back, however, and with less than three minutes left on the clock in the final quarter, they scored. This time on a six-yard toss from Deichahrer to Hanson. Andrew Hall, from his nose guard position, deflected the extra point attempt to keep the scoreboard at Wayne 21, Wyandotte 14.

After an exchange of punts, the Zebras found themselves in excellent field position at the Bears' 36 yard line. After six plays, Tatum sewed up the victory with his 14 yard dash through the left side with seconds left.

Tatum finished the evening with 153 yards rushing on 31 carries. On the defensive side, Warner played his usual steady game, while David King, Dave Suchan, and Craig Hatcher made crucial defensive contributions.

The Wayne Junior Varsity steamrolled to a 55-7 victory over their Wyandotte counterparts. Tom Faison, Tony Adams, Shayler Barnes, and Bryan Tapp led the assault in their 7-0 record. The junior Zebras have outscored their opponents 290-48 this season.

Opatrny scores

Freshman forward Rob Opatrny of Canton and a member of the Western Michigan University soccer team was one of three players to score in a 3-2 victory over Valparaiso in Kalazamoo.

Opatrny, a graduate of Plymouth Canton, scored for the second time this season.

Viking homecoming

Inkster to host Robichaud for 'city's grid bragging rights'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Disregarding the suspended game with Ecorse, Inkster High has not won a football game in 1986.

The Ecorse game was cancelled after a fight broke out.

On Friday, natural rival Dearborn Heights Robichaud, will play the Vikings a visit, and Coach A.C. James and his boys would give just about anything to spoil the day for their visitors.

You see, it's Inkster's Homecoming.

"It may be a cliché," says Yauck, "but it definitely is true: Whenever these two teams meet you can toss out their records." For the record, Inkster is 0-6 while Robichaud has a 3-4 record.

"There's this natural neighborhood rivalry and these kids are playing for the city's bragging rights for one year," Yauck added.

James agreed.

"Robichaud has another fine team," James said. "And we have our problems getting points on the scoreboard. We haven't been able to correct our offensive problems and we also don't seem to be able to correct our mistakes. We keep making the same problems over and over."

Inkster made Oak Park sweat however before it coughed up an 18-12 Suburban Athletic Conference decision. The Vikings took a 6-0 halftime lead when quarterback William Knox capped a midfield drive with a one-yard touchdown sneak. The Vikings got within striking distance thanks to a 21-yard Knox-to-Lorenzo Terrell pass completion. They went for the two-point conversion and Knox's pass was off-target.

Inkster made it a 12-0 lead in the third quarter as the Vikings cashed in on a 70-yard pass-run touchdown play that saw Knox combining with T.C. Winn.

But the Vikings apparently thought the game was over and (it isn't over until it's over). Oak Park roared back and put three consecutive TDs on the scoreboard to top their visitors and also detour the Vikings from the winning column for the seventh straight time.

Andre Davis continued to be the sparkplug of the Viking defense while Terrell was the leading rusher.

"We are going to have a homecoming crowd on hand this Friday," added James. "I hope we don't disappoint them."

Flyers fall to Robichaud

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Unfortunately for Willow Run's Flyers, Robichaud quarterback Clint McDaniel "is blossoming into an outstanding quarterback."

Those were the words of Coach Bob Yauck who watched his young QB tear the Flyers' defenses apart Saturday night. Connecting on eight of 24 passes for 147 yards and one touchdown, McDaniel led the Bulldogs to a lopsided 34-13 victory over their Suburban Athletic Conference rivals.

The Robichaud victory snapped their three-game losing streak, one of the longest losing streaks in recent Bulldog history.

"This is the first time this year that we have displayed some offensive punch," Yauck said. "And, it's about time."

To counter Willow Run's anticipated aerial assault, Yauck reinforced his secondary, pointing out that "we had extra coverage on their passes, and that was the difference."

A 16-point third quarter also helped.

Robichaud drew first blood as McDaniel strung together a 40-yard drive that included Jeff Arthur's 31-yard pass reception of a McDaniel toss. The Bulldogs got into the Willow Run end zone on an eight-yard James Gee run. The Bulldogs elected to go for the two-point conversion and failed.

Willow Run came back with a 24-yard score and also booted the extra point to grab a 7-6 lead which stood up until after the intermission.

In the decisive third quarter, the Bulldogs took the opening kickoff and marched 60-yards, the final four on Gordon McDuffie's touchdown run. He also chipped in the two-point conversion, making it a 14-7 game.

After the punt, Robichaud again maneuvered in scoring position as McDaniel put together a six-play drive that was capped with a 33-yard touchdown pass to Dushawn Bohannon. McDuffie also scored the two-point conversion as the Bulldogs widened the margin 22-7.

McDuffie scored from the seven in a five-play, 35-yard drive and McDaniel also found his way over the Flyer goal-line with a 10-yard around end sweep to account for the Bulldogs fourth quarter scoring.

Bring on Monroe

Improving with each game, Wayne Memorial managed to hang on to a cliffhanging 28-14 victory over Wyandotte Friday night on a field described as "horrendous" by coach Chuck Howton. Four teams utilize the Bears' facility plus recent rains have made the gridiron suitable for mud baths rather than football. Nonetheless, Wayne survived and will be returning home Friday to host Monroe for its final conference game before clashing with Westland John Glenn a week from Friday. ANP photo by Lothar E. 'Hot shots' advance

The shooting was sharp and accurate for a handful of Inkster eagers who survived a field of 72 to advance to the semi-final round of the "Pepsi Hot Shot Basketball Contest."

The contest was staged at the Inkster Recreation Complex, and co-sponsored by the recreation department.

Local winners will advance to the semis scheduled for Nov. 22 at Wayne State University. Those winning the semi-finals will get an opportunity to show their talent at the Pontiac Silverdome in January when the championships will be staged for the various age groups.

Here are the Inkster first and second place winners and their age categories:

Carlene Nolan and Maricela Harris placed first and second respectively in the 9-12 age group for girls while Jean Braswell and Shanette Lamar were first and second for the 13-15 group.

Finishing 1-2-3 in the boys 9-12 bracket were Michael Skyes, Dewand Zirker and Carlos Johnson.

Philoseth Elliott, Gary Johnson and Dejuan Jones wound up first, second and third respectively for boys 13 to 15. In the 16-18 age group, Jerel Beaver emerged as the winner while Issac Jerkins and Deon Jackson were second and third.

Churchill deals Franklin another cliffhanging loss

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Stopping cross-town rival Livonia Franklin inches away from the goal-line, and producing the offense when it didn't it helped Churchill earn a hard-fought 9-0 victory over the Patriots. The victory kept Churchill's state playoff hopes alive.

"We said it was going to be a defensive battle, and that's what it was," said Churchill's Herb Osterland. "We managed to stop them on the two and that was a key series in this game."

Franklin's Armand Vigna agreed.

"We just couldn't punch it in," Vigna said. "We got on a pair of power plays and I guess we used it once too often."

Churchill will host Westland John Glenn Friday night in a "cross-over" Western Lakes Divisional playoff game. Both teams have 6-1 records.

In the meantime, Franklin awaits Walled Lake Central for their playoff game. That match-up will take place 1 p.m., Saturday, at Franklin High.

Defense dictated what was going to happen on both sides of the line in the Classic Churchill-Franklin duel. "It was more than a typical Franklin-Churchill game," noted Osterland, "because the quality of defense was so evident."

Churchill got on the scoreboard in the first quarter on a 20-yard field goal by Scott Porter. That culminated a second possession drive which featured a 27-yard pass reception by Eric Wolf from Kevin Bebb, moving the ball to the Patriots' five. A penalty and two unsuccessful attempts forced the Chargers to call on Porter.

The Chargers added to their lead in the second quarter with the help of a rushing-the-kicker-penalty and Jim Naif's 37-yard gain that moved Churchill within nine-yards of the Pats' end zone. After a pro-completed six, for 69 yards. (The longest, a 27 yard completion to Wolf). Naif also rushed for 54 yards in 12 tries and stood out on defense as a linebacker. Naif also accounted for five cedural penalty, the Chargers found themselves back on the Franklin 14 where Bebb singled out split end Dave Lapsham for a pass that resulted in the only touchdown of the game.

Defense was the name of the game the rest of the way.

Keith McGorisk rushed for 88 yards in 11 attempts - his longest gain a 35-yarder while Bebb attempted 18 passes and first hits and five assists and one sack of the quarterback.

For Franklin, Mike Linenberg's 30 yards on eight carries were the best offensive effort by a Patriot. However, defensively, there is a whole slew of standouts - Jeff Kroll, Jim Brahmmer, John Stesiak, Chris Parenti and Mark Kerpet - who did the job for the Patriots.

Romulus has posted two impressive victories over traditionally strong football teams, beating Cabrini, 8-7, and holding off Detroit Cooley, 28-20. But they were less than impressive against Garden City in their last outing.

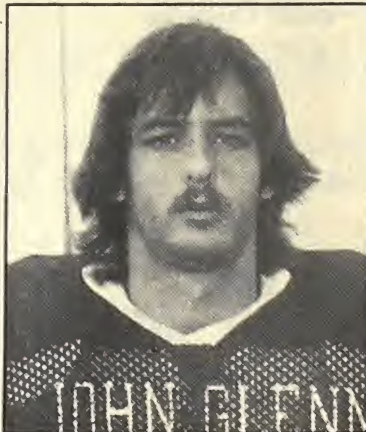

The Eagle defense had their problems with Joe Petraski who rushed for 101 yards in 19 carries and scored in the opening period on a two-yard lunge that paved the way for the Jaguars' fourth victory in seven starts.

Tom Flannery accounted for the other two Garden City touchdowns on runs of two and six yards.

Garden City held the Eagles to a minus seven yards rushing.

Players of the Week

Tony Svaluto

Darren Tatum

Tony Svaluto booted a 35-yard field goal that stood up as the margin of victory for Westland John Glenn against a stubborn Plymouth Salem. It was Tony's sixth field goal of the year and 12th of his high school career. In the meantime, Darren Tatum was the mainstay of a Wayne offense that rallied past Wyandotte, 28-14. Tatum amassed 153 yards in 32 tries, and two touchdowns. Svaluto and Tatum have earned "Players of the Week" accolades for their individual performances.

Jeff Horrigan, 4, and his family visited the Schultz's pumpkin patch recently to get a jump on the jack-o'-lantern season. Both pick-your-own and pick-it-up varieties of pumpkins are available at the local farm in sizes ranging from small to big and even bigger.

Pumpkin pickin'

A 300-pound pumpkin from his patches set a record this year for Roy and Tillie Schultz on their Canton Township pumpkin farm. However, even such a sizable fruit doesn't make the humble, retired farmer seek publicity or notoriety in the pumpkin patch limelight.

The Schultzes have been operating their pumpkin patch on Lilley Road on and off since 1980. The owner of 14 acres of prime suburban Detroit farmland, Roy decided to dedicate his soil and knowledge of the farming trade to the hobgoblins and hauntings of the Halloween season soon after he decided to retire from farming as a career.

"All of the things we grow on the land are for Halloween. We had a you-pick farm in 1980, and then we quit for about four years," said Schultz. "We started up again last year."

Although the muddled land and long walk to the patches have turned many pick-your-own pumpkin buyers into pick-it-out yourself advocates, four variety of pumpkins are available for would-be jack-o'-lantern cavers as are several types of gourds, squash and Indian corn. The smaller pumpkins are more densely packed with filling, Schultz explained, and are best used for baking and canning.

And the 300-pound variety? Well, Schultz said, at about 10 cents per pound, this unusual fruit is perhaps best suited for display and eventually will make one big pumpkin face that is sure to bring smiles to many faces on Halloween night.

The Schultz farm, located at 7854 Lilley Road, between Warren and Joy roads, is open from 9 a.m. to dusk daily. And based on the current rush of pumpkin buyers, almost all of the bright orange gourds should be gone just a few days before Halloween night, according to pumpkin patch owners.

SALADS: Not just an appetizer anymore

By CHEF LARRY JANES
ANP Special Writer

I've been to parties when they were served before the entree. Then, at another party, they were served after the entree. Have them alone for lunch or couple them with a sizzling steak and mouthwatering baked potato.

Once, I tasted one so chilled, it had frost, then again, one was so hot, it burned the roof of my mouth.

Soggy ones, tossed ones, layered ones, crisp ones, hot ones, cold ones, you name it, and it all spells S-A-L-A-D.

Simple does not always mean easy — special care must be taken with the plain salad, as it's very simplicity invites monotony. It is important to create a contrast in texture, color and flavor. Try pairing romaine or Boston lettuce with watercress or spinach for example, with a bit of endive or escarole for added tang. Don't overdo it. Two or three greens are adequate. Particular attention must also be paid to the dressing. A plain salad is traditionally dressed with a basic vinaigrette using oil and vinegar with a subtle blend of herbs. But remember, the choice of oil and vinegar, their proportion, and the style and degree of flavorings added depend on the greens. Lettuces such as Boston, bibb and iceberg, which have delicate flavors that are easily overpowered, team up best with lemon juice, and the lighter oils in addition to a gentle seasoning such as a sprinkling of shallots, salt, pepper and one fresh herb. Romaine, escarole, arugula and chicory, on the other hand demand a more robust dressing made with a hearty red wine vinegar, a full-flavored oil and seasoned with garlic, mustard and pungent herbs.

Head lettuce is most efficiently cleaned by cutting out the stem to a depth of about one inch. Allow cold water to run into the head, turn upside down, allow to drain and refrigerate. Leaf varieties should be pulled apart, then washed and drained. After draining, roll the lettuce leaves into a roll of paper towels. This will not only absorb any remaining water, but will ensure proper humidity and crispness, even up to three days or more!

Forget the salad spinner. A neat little invention that simply bruises and dries out lettuce leaves, especially when overzealous cooks pretend the lettuce is on a spin cycle as long as the BVDs. I've heard tales about using pillow cases and spinning them wildly overhead but I certainly wouldn't dare put my lettuce in something that's washed with my underwear.

Probably the most important tidbit of information I can pass along today will surprise most of you. By all means, never cut or chop your greens, always tear them. The metal in blades creates some sort of chemical reaction that makes the lettuce brown within hours. Secondly, and just for passing, you might want to remember that tomatoes should never be placed on the salad before tossing. Their high water content will dilute the dressing, and they always sink to the bottom and someone always yells, "I didn't get a tomato!"

Here's a compilation of my favorite salads, hot, cold, tossed layered Bon Appetit!

SPINACH SALAD
(Serves 4-6)

- 4 cups spinach, washed and drained
 - 3 hardboiled eggs, chopped
 - 1 pound bacon, cooked till crisp, then crumbled, fat reserved
 - Dressing:
 - 3 1/2 tablespoons wine vinegar
 - 3 tablespoons catsup
 - 1 tablespoon Worcestershire
 - 1 tablespoon steak sauce
 - 1 teaspoon sugar
 - 3/4 teaspoon paprika
 - 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
 - 1/4 teaspoon fresh ground pepper
 - 1 cup bacon fat, heated
- Combine all ingredients for the dressing in a small saucepan and heat through, stirring until completely dissolved. Place spinach in a salad bowl, add 1/2 of dressing, toss to coat, sprinkle with eggs and crumbled bacon. Serve with a sprinkling of pepper.
- To make a basic vinaigrette: 3 parts oil to 1 part vinegar.

RAW MUSHROOM SALAD

- 1 lb. fresh mushrooms
 - 1/2 cup olive oil
 - 1/4 cup wine vinegar
 - 2 tablespoons capers
 - pinch salt and pepper
 - 1 large head Boston or Romaine lettuce
- Wash the mushrooms carefully and slice them. Make a marinade of the oil, vinegar, pepper, salt and capers, pour over the mushrooms and toss lightly. Chill for at least 1 hour. Wash and tear the lettuce into bite-sized pieces, arrange on a plate and place a mound of the mushroom mixture on the lettuce. Sprinkle with fresh ground pepper.
